About the show: The SPARE Project Gallery (Special Projects and Related Exhibitions) is a space for Marylhurst students and artists from the community to try something new in their art practice.

John Larsen's project is an experiment in minimalism and storytelling using fluorescent light and the room's own structure.

Bio: John Larsen holds a BFA from Pacific Northwest College of Art. He served as the Art Director for Michael Curry Design in Scappoose, Oregon for nine years and is currently working in the graphic design field. In addition to his design work and studio practice, he creates community involvement and public art projects with his partner, Vicki Wilson.
